Burk's Unmatchable Bargains

POINT THE WAY TO TRUE ECONOMY.

The Big Store's values have ever been recognized as standard in this community, have ever set a pace which none could follow. Competition is continually forced to resort to schemes, which, soap-bubble-like, will burst upon the slightest reflection when placed in comparison with the "Burk" high-class and high-standard apparel at the maker-to-wearer prices, and which is now fairly teeming with bargain wonders by reason of an opportune and tremendous big purchase in woollens way below actual value recently consummated by the Burk woolen buyer.

BLACKSTONE, VA.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BLACKSTONE, Va., Dec. 3.—The series of meetings in progress at the Baptist Church here for the past two weeks were brought to a close last night. Great interest have been manifested, and there have been many conversions and relocations.

Information has reached the relatives here of the death in Columbus, Miss., of Professor J. M. Barrow, a native of Brunswick county, but had resided in Mississippi for a number of years, where he was State educational lecturer.

It is said the yield of corn in this section has been surpassed in years, and the quality is also very fine, and the grain being fully developed and the grains large. Nearly every one will have corn to sell, which means less money leaving the section for the western product.

The Ladies' Pilgrimage Club has resumed its meetings at the homes of the members. The two meetings thus far held were first at the Hogg Academy, where Mrs. Colonel E. B. Fishburne entertained. The club a few evenings ago and served elegant refreshments. Mrs. Fishburne was assisted in receiving by Miss Bessie E. Cook. The other was at the home of Mrs. Frank Jones, where all the members save two, who were out of town, gathered Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Jones served cream and cakes from the city caterers, together with other delicacies.

The building of the new Methodist Church, which is now nearing completion, placed the parsonage some distance away. The Methodists decided to sell the present parsonage and build a new one near their new church, they already having a lot for that purpose. A purchaser was found in Mr. W. H. Barrow, one of Brunswick county's best known men, who gave for it $4,000. Mr. Barrow is now moving here, where he will reside in future. In the meantime the Methodists have rented a home for their pastor, pending the building of the new parsonage, which will be done next spring. The Methodists owned some very desirable property here surrounding their present church and parsonage, and when they decided to build a new church in the different section of the town they began to sell off this property at good prices. The returns from this will go a long way towards the building of their handsome new edifice now nearing completion.

The Episcopalians, who have been without a rector for several months, hope to have one in a short while. It is understood that a call has been extended Rev. Dr. R. H. Lacy, of Lynchburg, with the hope of his accepting. Dr. Lacy was rector here several years ago, when he was quite a young man, and he is well known to all the older people.

The Christmas trading has already set in with our merchants, and many people from the surrounding country are seen here every day making purchases for the holidays.

The tobacco sales are ahead of those at the same period last year, and it is thought, with a good season for handling the weed, that December will see a full market the entire month.

Game is reported scarce in this section as in other portions of the State, although there are more birds than some think for. They are, however, very hard to find, secreting themselves in the bushes and branches. There are, however, no big bags reported from a day's hunt that often occurred in the past few years. Many turkeys were reported early in the fall, but it is said the hunters did not wait for the season to open and the great number were killed while they were small, even, it is said, while they could be whistled up.

No Fatigue.

An Indian can walk all day and his feet are not tired. The reason is simple—he wears on his feet moccasins of deer hide with thick but very pliant soles.

It is the flexibility of his tread that saves him from fatigue.

By constant exercise the muscles of his feet acquire great strength. Put him into stiff-soled shoes and he would tire after a few miles.

The "Dorothy Dodd" shoe for women is made with a sole of extreme flexibility. To accomplish this it requires a finer leather and a special construction, but the result is worth everything to you. Every step you take in "Dorothy Dodd" is a delight because it is made with no effort whatever. It is as easy as breathing. Try it.
